D.C. He also is assistant professor of medicine and pediatrics at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda, Md.

Michael Cupoli, M.D., FAAP, of Chicago, has been appointed chief of the section of chronic illness and head of the Family and Child Health Policy Program of Children’s Memorial Medical Center in Chicago. He also joins the staff of Northwestern University Medical School as associate professor of pediatrics. Dr. Cupoli will work with parents, schools and social and medical service groups to help chronically ill children and their families at home and in their communities. He was director of Children’s Medical Services for the state of Florida; that agency served 110,000 women and children with chronic illnesses. Before that, he was in private practice as a consultant in development and behavior.

Philip Farrell, M.D., FAAP, of Madison, Wis., has been named dean of the University of Wisconsin Medical School. Dr. Farrell had served as interim leader during a nine-month search to replace the former dean. He is a nationally known expert in pediatric lung diseases, specializing in cystic fibrosis. Dr. Farrell was chair of the medical school’s department of pediatrics, medical director of the University of Wisconsin Children’s Hospital and chairman of University Healthcare Inc.’s board of directors. He also was named 1995 Pediatrician of the Year by the AAP Wisconsin chapter. Dr. Farrell is credited with helping expand Wisconsin’s newborn screening programs to identify genetic diseases in infants.

Ralph Feigin, M.D., FAAP, of Houston, has been elected to membership in the National Academy of Sciences’ Institute of Medicine. He was elected for professional achievement and demonstrated interest in public health. Dr. Feigin is physician-in-chief at Texas Children's Hospital, and chairman of Baylor College of Medicine’s department of pediatrics. He is an internationally known expert in pediatric infectious disease and is associate editor of Pediatrics.

Steven Krug, M.D., FAAP, of Evanston, Ill., has been appointed head of the division of emergency medicine of Children’s Memorial Medical Center in Chicago. He also joins the staff of Northwestern University Medical School as associate professor of pediatrics. Dr. Krug is chairman of the AAP Section on Emergency Medicine. He came from Children’s Hospital and Health Center, San Diego, where he was medical director of the Emergency Care Center since 1993. He also was director of the division of pediatric emergency medicine at the University of California, San Diego.

In Memoriam

Dorothea Moore Burkhard, M.D., FAAP, also known as Dr. Dorothea May Moore, of Needham, Mass., died June 5, 1995, at the age of 101. Born in Providence, R.I., she was graduated from Bryn Mawr College in 1915. She served as a laboratory technician in Red Cross Hospital No. 2 in Paris during World War I. After the war, she was graduated from Johns Hopkins Medical School. She established her practice in 1934 in Cambridge, Mass., and taught at Children’s Hospital and Harvard Medical School. In 1941, she married Arthur Burkhard but continued to practice under her maiden name. After retiring in 1964, she worked on the National Institutes of Health maternal-infant health study until 1974. She was a member of the Cambridge Mental Health Association’s board of directors for 30 years and was a Connecticut College trustee. She is survived by two nieces.

Fellows in the News notes physicians’ awards, honors and obituaries. Submit column items to: Luann T anzola, Staff Writer, AAP News, 141 Northwest Point Blvd., Elk Grove Village, IL 60007.
In Memoriam
AAP News 1996;12;25

Updated Information & Services including high resolution figures, can be found at:
http://aapnews.aappublications.org/content/12/2/25

Permissions & Licensing
Information about reproducing this article in parts (figures, tables) or in its entirety can be found online at:
http://beta.aapnews.aappublications.org/site/misc/Permissions.xhtml

Reprints
Information about ordering reprints can be found online:
http://beta.aapnews.aappublications.org/site/misc/reprints.xhtml
In Memoriam
_AAP News_ 1996;12;25

The online version of this article, along with updated information and services, is located on the World Wide Web at:
http://aapnews.aappublications.org/content/12/2/25