2000 AAP Annual Meeting
October 28-November 1
Chicago Hilton & Towers/Lakeside Center
at McCormick Place • Chicago, Illinois

Pediatric Bowl
Monday, Oct. 30, from 5:45-7:45 p.m.
Who needs “Who Wants to Be a Millionaire” when you can test your knowledge of medical information and pediatric trivia in the Pediatric Bowl. With the assistance of faculty and residents from medical schools in the Chicago area, audience members are invited to participate in the Pediatric Bowl. Who needs a million dollars when the Meconium Cup is at stake? Everyone is invited to join and try to win it.

Your patients are looking for you. Online.

More and more, parents are going online to answer their medical questions about their children. And, more and more, parents are exposed to unsourced, misleading, and inaccurate health information. Your Practice Online™, from Medem™ and the AAP lets you deliver online health information from your patients’ most trusted source — you. Your Practice Online is the most credible source for online health information because it’s the only health network partnered with the nation’s leading medical societies, including the American Academy of Pediatrics. To save practice time and provide trustworthy online information from the AAP and other national leading medical societies, let parents find the answers they’re looking for with Your Practice Online. And let them trust the answers they’ve found — from you.
