

THE OFFICIAL NEWSMAGAZINE OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF PEDIATRICS

AAP News

Volume 30 • Number 12
December 2009
www.aapnews.org

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. de Lorimier

Dr. DiGeorge

Dr. O'Cherony

Alfred A. de Lorimier, M.D., FAAP, of Olney, Md., died of lung cancer Oct. 4 at age 78.

Angelo M. DiGeorge, M.D., FAAP, of Philadelphia, namesake of DiGeorge syndrome — the congenital disorder caused by a defect in chromosome 22 — died of kidney failure Oct. 11 at age 88.

Allan L. Drash, M.D., FAAP, of Pittsburgh, died Aug. 3 at age 77. The disorder known as Denys-Drash syndrome was named in part for him.

Robert DuRant, Ph.D., Honorary FAAP, of Winston-Salem, N.C., died Sept. 28 at age 57.

Gilbert A. Friday, M.D., FAAP, of Pittsburgh, died of pulmonary fibrosis Oct. 22 at age 79.

Domingo O'Cherony, M.D., FAAP, of Chicago, died Sept. 27 at age 97.

Honor loved ones with AAP Commemorative Garden memorial

An engraved plaque placed in the Academy's Commemorative Garden in Elk Grove Village, Ill., is a special way to remember or honor beloved family members and friends. Provide lasting recognition to those you cherish by making a $2,500 unrestricted donation to the Academy.

For more information, contact Grace Geslowski, AAP Development, at 800-433-9016, ext. 7384, or e-mail ggeslowski@aap.org.