Amelia Island an ideal location for continuing medical education course

Northeast Florida, home to beautiful beaches, crystal-clear waters and abundant wildlife, is the perfect getaway destination. Enjoy the region's ideal setting and climate while learning more about current issues in pediatrics and preparing for everyday practice at the Practical Pediatrics course Nov. 4-6 in Amelia Island, Fla.

Nationally prominent faculty will present lectures, seminars and question-and-answer sessions on the latest developments in pediatrics. The continuing medical education (CME) course also offers opportunities to interact with faculty in solving common problems in pediatric practice.

Seminars include:

- “What is That? How to Diagnose Sexually Transmitted Diseases in Adolescents,” with Elizabeth M. Alderman, M.D., FSAM, FAAP, professor of clinical pediatrics, Albert Einstein College of Medicine/Children's Hospital at Montefiore, Bronx, N.Y.;
- “Bats, Bites and Needlesticks: What Should You Do Next?” with Penelope H. Dennehy, M.D., FAAP, professor of pediatrics and vice chair of academic affairs, The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University, Providence, R.I.;
- “Obesity, Metabolic Syndrome and Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus,” with Gary L. Francis, M.D., Ph.D., C.D.E., FAAP, professor of pediatrics, Medical College of Virginia, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, Va.;
- “The Medical Evaluation of the Child with Developmental Delay,” with Adrian Sandler, M.D., FAAP, adjunct associate professor of pediatrics, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Asheville, N.C.;

- “Lower Extremity Pediatric Sports Injuries,” with Brian A. Shaw, M.D., F.A.A.O.S., FAAP, associate clinical professor of orthopedic surgery, director of pediatric orthopedic surgery at Carilion Clinic, University of Virginia School of Medicine, Virginia Tech-Carilion School of Medicine, Roanoke, Va.; and
- “Pediatric Hypertension: Diagnosis, Evaluation and Treatment,” with Steven J. Wassner, M.D., FAAP, professor of pediatrics, vice chair of education, Penn State College of Medicine, The Penn State Children's Hospital, Hershey, Pa.

Participants can earn a maximum of 17.25 AMA PRA Category 1 credits.
