CME

Attend CME then hit the slopes in Colorado

Learn about current issues in pediatrics and then take a break to breathe the fresh mountain air and hit the slopes at Practical Pediatrics, Jan. 17-20, at the Vail Marriott Mountain Resort and Spa in Colorado.

The continuing medical education course features nationally prominent faculty and a variety of learning formats designed for pediatricians, family physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, nurses and allied health professionals caring for children.

Not a skier or snowboarder? Take in the mountain scenery via a guided dog-sled ride through the Rocky Mountains or a heated snow coach tour through the White River National Forest. After, join colleagues for more pediatric topics designed to help you stay current with office advances.

Featured speakers and sessions include:

- “Acne: Is Zit that Simple?” and “Dermatology Lookalikes,” with Albert C. Yan, M.D., FAAD, FAAP, associate professor of pediatrics and dermatology and section chief, pediatric dermatology at Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania and Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia;
- “Hyperactive Preschooler: Pearls, Perils and Pitfalls in Assessment and Management,” and “ADHD Goes to College: Helping the Adolescent to Succeed,” with Andrew Adesman, M.D., FAAP, chief, developmental and behavioral pediatrics at Steven & Alexandra Cohen Children’s Medical Center of New York;
- Genetic Testing: What Can We Offer in 2013?” and “Genetics: What Syndrome is This?” with Tamison Jewett, M.D., FACMG,

FAAP, professor of pediatrics and director, clinical services, in the Section on Medical Genetics at Wake Forest School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N.C.;

- “Poverty, Poor Parenting and Neglect: Where is the Line?” and “What’s Killing Our Kids: Hot Topics in Childhood Injury Prevention,” with Robert Sege, M.D., Ph.D., FAAP, professor of pediatrics, Boston University School of Medicine;
- “Bone and Joint Infections of Children” and “Pitfalls in Pediatric Fracture Management,” with Kit M. Song, M.D., M.H.A., FAAOS, chief of staff at Shriners Hospitals for Children, Los Angeles; and
- “Effective and Efficient Care of the Asthmatic Child Using Best Practice Quality Guidelines” and “Case-based Presentations in Pediatric Pulmonary Medicine,” with Mary A. Nevin, M.D., FAAP, assistant professor of pediatrics at the Ann and Robert H. Lurie Children’s Hospital and Northwestern Feinberg School of Medicine, Chicago.

Participants can earn a maximum of 17.25 AMA PRA Category 1 credits. For early bird rates, register by Dec. 19.
