Practical Pediatrics heads to Hilton Head Island, New York City

If you would like the opportunity to talk with expert faculty about issues ranging from emergency medicine to adolescent health and be in a glamorous setting, head to South Carolina or New York for Practical Pediatrics. The continuing medical education course will be held May 24-26 at the Hilton Head Marriott Resort & Spa on Hilton Head Island, S.C., and May 25-27 at Millennium Broadway Hotel in New York.

Learn new, relevant medical information about topics such as thyroid disorders and sleep problems in a variety of learning platforms, including lectures, seminars and group case-based discussions. While you are at it, check out the gorgeous salt marshes and lagoons on Hilton Head or go shopping in New York.

Highlights and faculty include:

- “Six Behavioral Strategies You Can Use Now,” with Nathan J. Blum, M.D., FAAP, professor of pediatrics, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine; director, Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia;
- “Thyroid Disorders in Infants and Children,” with Gary L. Francis, M.D., Ph.D., FAAP, professor of pediatrics, Children’s Hospital of Richmond at Virginia, Commonwealth University, Richmond;
- “Case Vignettes in Adolescent Gynecology,” with Cynthia Holland-Hall, M.D., M.P.H., FAAP, associate professor of clinical pediatrics, Ohio State University College of Medicine, Columbus;
- “Anaphylaxis!” with John M. Kelso, M.D., FAAAAI, FAAP, clinical professor of pediatrics, University of California San Diego

School of Medicine, Division of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology; Scripps Clinic, San Diego;

- “A Rational Approach to Medication for ADHD,” with Karen J. Miller, M.D., FAAP, associate professor of pediatrics, Tufts University School of Medicine, Boston;
- “The Beat Goes On! Rhythm Disturbance in Children,” with Angela M. Sharkey, M.D., FACC, professor of pediatrics, associate dean of faculty affairs and development, St. Louis University, St. Louis; and
- “What’s the Rash?” with Harper N. Price, M.D., FAAD, FAAP, pediatric dermatologist, fellowship director, Phoenix Children’s Hospital, Phoenix.

Participants can receive a maximum of 17.25 AMA PRA Category 1 credits. For early bird rates, register by April 26 for Hilton Head Island and April 27 for New York.
