Head to beautiful Breckenridge for clinical practice updates

Find fun amid mountains at Practical Pediatrics Jan. 23-26 in Breckenridge, Colo. The continuing medical education course features an opportunity to brush up on issues important to clinical practice in half-day sessions, with plenty of time for relaxation at Beaver Run Resort & Conference Center.

Snow lovers will enjoy access to Breckenridge ski area with 2,300 acres of terrain, four terrain parks and four interconnected peaks. Activities include hiking, fishing, horseback riding, biking, Nordic skiing, snowmobiling, dog sledding and sleigh rides.

Attend and interact with expert faculty, then take information home to apply in your practice. Following are session highlights:

- “Screening, Diagnosis and Management of Autism Spectrum Disorders in Primary Care,” “Improving the Quality of Pediatric ADHD Management” and “Understanding and Utilizing Placebo Effects in Practice,” with Adrian D. Sandler, M.D., FAAP, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill;
- “Shouldering the Burden: A Hands-On and Case-based Approach to the Shoulder Exam” and “Dancing with the (Future) Stars: Dance and Performing Arts Medical Tips for the Pediatric Provider,” with Chris G. Koutures, M.D., FAAP, Gladstein and Koutures, MDs Inc., Anaheim, Calif.;
- “Consent, Confidentiality and Your Adolescent Patients,” “Abnormal Menstrual Cycles: When to Worry, When to Wait,” and “Asking the Tough Questions: Tips for Interviewing Your Adolescent Patients,” with Cynthia M. Holland-Hall, M.D., M.P.H., FAAP, Ohio State University College of Medicine;

- “Worms and Other Parasitic Germs,” “Tick-borne Diseases” and “MRSA,” with Margaret C. Fisher, M.D., FAAP, Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch, N.J.;
- “Allergy Testing: Pearls, Perils and Pitfalls for the Pediatrician,” “Hot Topics in Food Allergy: Are We Closer to a Cure?” and “The Hygiene Hypothesis and Development of Allergy: Is There a Downside to Clean Living?” with Mary Beth Fasano, M.D., FAAP, University of Iowa Hospitals & Clinics; and
- “Pediatric Arrhythmias and ECG Case Review,” “Sudden Death in Athletes and the Pre-participation Sports Exam” and “Murmurs in Children: What Do They Mean?” with William Hamill, M.D., FACC, FAAP, Presbyterian Pediatric Cardiology, Novant Health System, Charlotte, N.C.
