CME

Practical Pediatrics course set for Scottsdale

As autumn fades in northern climes, sunny Scottsdale, Ariz., is the perfect venue for a Practical Pediatrics conference, Nov. 8-10.

Javelinas, coyotes and snakes — this destination has it all. Other than the multitude of animals (don't forget the nearby Phoenix Zoo), Scottsdale boasts more than 500 specialty boutiques, art galleries, museums, restaurants and night clubs.

Practical Pediatrics focuses on adolescent health, dermatology, developmental/behavioral pediatrics, infectious diseases, nephrology and orthopedics. Participants engage with expert faculty, attend exhibits with the latest technology and sit in on interactive, hot-topic discussions. All of the information is meant to be taken directly from the conference and used in the office. Concurrent seminars on related topics also are offered throughout the weekend.

Course highlights and faculty include:

- “Back Pain in Children and Adolescents” and “Developmental Hip Dysplasia: Diagnosis in the Age of Ultrasound,” with Matthew J. Bueche, M.D., FAAP;
- “Community Acquired Pneumonia: Guidelines for Diagnosis and Management” and “Distinguishing Among Prolonged, Recurrent and Periodic Fever Syndromes,” with Penelope Hill Dennehy, M.D., FAAP;
- “Febrile Urinary Tract Infections in Children: Review of the New AAP Guidelines” and “Kidney Stones in Children: A New Epidemic?” with Beth Ann Vogt, M.D., FAAP;
- “Hemangiomas and Vascular Malformations” and “Lumps and Bumps in Children,” with Patricia Anne Treadwell, M.D., FAAP;

- “HPV and the HPV Vaccine: What's New” and “The Changing Face of Eating Disorders: Role of the Pediatrician,” with Neville Hylton Golden, M.D., FAAP; and
- “Is it Really Autism?” and “Sleep Disorders: How Can You Help in Ten Minutes,” with Susan Buttross, M.D., FAAP.

Concurrent seminars include:

- “Who Needs Referral to Pediatric Orthopedics?” with Dr. Bueche;
- “Normal or Not: Managing Common Behavior Problems in Young Children,” with Dr. Buttross;
- “Hot Topics in Infectious Diseases,” with Dr. Dennehy;
- “Potpourri of STIs,” with Dr. Golden;
- “Cutaneous Infestations and Infections in Children,” with Dr. Treadwell; and
- “Hematuria in the Office Setting,” with Dr. Vogt.

Participants can earn a maximum of 17.25 AMA PRA Category 1 credits. For early bird rates, register by Oct. 11.
