

CME

Pediatric hospital medicine is focus of January CME in San Diego

Build your knowledge of newborn and children's care in hospital settings while getting in touch with your inner rock star. Register now for Clinical Pediatric Hospital Medicine: Caring for Newborns and Children in the Hospital Setting, hosted at the Hard Rock Hotel San Diego, Jan. 16-18.

Presentations by field experts, question-and-answer sessions and small breakout group discussions will provide participants with clinical updates on important topics.

Steps away from the San Diego Bay, the Hard Rock Hotel offers live music and exciting onsite events. Nearby are the San Diego Zoo, SeaWorld and other attractions. If you're looking to escape chilly winter weather, a typical January day in San Diego is 60 degrees and sunny.

Course highlights and faculty include:

- "Fever in Infants 7-90 Days of Age" and "Urinary Tract Infections," with Kenneth B. Roberts, M.D., FAAP, of Yale-New Haven Hospital, Yale School of Medicine;
- "Apparent Life-Threatening Events (ALTE)" and "Evidence-Based Review of Acute Gastroenteritis," with Joel S. Tieder, M.D., M.P.H., FAAP, of Seattle Children's Hospital;
