"Art is the signature of civilization."

-- Beverly Sills, opera star, child advocate, keynote speaker at 1989 AAP Spring Session

The American Academy of Pediatrics maintains a commitment to art that is visible in many ways—through the AAP logo, the della Robbia, which is named for its creator, the Italian artist Luca della Robbia... through the Academy's Gauchat Collection of antique medical and infant feeding devices, which is nationally recognized as offering historic as well as artistic value... and through the Academy's headquarters building itself, which has won architectural awards and acclaim for its neo-classical design.

In addition, the Academy houses several art collections, including a Member Gallery.

This rotating exhibit of artwork created by AAP members features original photographs, paintings, drawings and other art. The member whose work opened the gallery about one year ago is James R. Little, M.D., FAAP, of Jackson, Wyoming. The gallery contains Dr. Little's portraits of people in Montana, Nicaragua, Texas, India, Nepal and Peru.

AAP members are now invited to submit artwork for display in future Member Gallery exhibits.

To submit your work, send slides of your work to: Michael Burke, AAP Division of Member Communications, P.O. Box 927, 141 Northwest Point Blvd., Elk Grove Village, IL 60009-0927; (800) 433-9016, ext. 7871.
